He Loved Us to the End

Devotions for Easter from the Gospel of John

Christopher Ash

Jesus loved you to the very end. Slow down to take in the profound reality of his immense love for you day-by-day throughout the weeks leading up to Easter.

Dwelling deeply on Christ's redemptive love, you'll reconnect with your Savior as you walk through John 18 – 19.

Through each short devotion, you'll follow Jesus' journey to the cross by…

- Homing in on just a couple of verses each day
- Focusing on Jesus' love for you as the driving force behind his actions
- Connecting the day's reading with your life through a reflection prompt and prayer

These Lent devotions are designed to begin on Ash Wednesday, and each Sunday devotion pauses to ponder a psalm that Jesus might have sung in his prayers and praises. The devotional concludes on Easter Sunday, when his everlasting love brought him out of the grave.

About the Author

Christopher Ash has been a pastor and is now an author and Writer-in-Residence at Tyndale House, Cambridge, UK. He was Director of the Proclamation Trust's Cornhill Training Course from 2004 to 2015. He is married to Carolyn, and they have four children and ten grandchildren.

Endorsements

"Christopher Ash, with a pastoral pen and a scholar's expertise, guides readers into the heaviness of the cross—to help us feel the glory, gravity, and goodness of the gospel. This book is a ticket for the journey of enjoying the Christ who died and is alive forevermore. Peer into these paragraphs and pages and behold the love of your Lord."

J.A. Medders
Author and Pastor

"A masterclass in devotional writing, staying true to the text but at the same time inviting you to sit at Jesus' feet. Christopher Ash's expositions of the final chapters of John's Gospel show us the very heart of Jesus. A wonderful aid for the days leading up to Easter."
