Abigail

Design a Disguise

Wearing a disguise means dressing up as something in order to hide who you really are, just like Abigail and Maggie did when they tried to put on fancy clothes so that pirates wouldn't recognize them. You can design your own disguises for games where you need to hide your identity.

How to Play:

1. Decide on Your Identity
   Look at all of the items you've collected. Think about what sorts of disguises you could make. Are there clothes and items that someone who works with animals might wear? Or a royal? Or a tired mom with 4 kids? Or a superhero?

2. Start With Your Clothes
   Once you've decided on what your identity will be, pick out the clothes that they would wear. For example, maybe if you decided to create a superhero disguise, you would pick out some clothes that are comfortable and stretchy since you'll need to look ready for action.

3. Add in Your Props
   Besides picking out your clothes, you'll need to choose other items that make sense for your disguise. For example, if you are going to pretend you're a unicorn tracker, you might hang binoculars around your neck and wear a backpack for wilderness exploring.

4. Create a Mask and/or Extra Props
   Sometimes the props you really want won't be available, but you can always draw them instead. If you are going to dress up as an inventor, you can create your own glasses, draw some tools, and make some presentations about your inventions.

5. Wear Your Disguise
   Once you have everything you need, put on your disguise!

6. Pretend You're Someone Else
   Now for the most exciting part. Start pretending! If you're disguised as a housecleaner, talk about your job, do a little dusting, and imagine that whoever you're hiding from is convinced you're not you at all.

What You'll Need

- Your imagination
- Paper
- Scissors
- Markers, colored pencils, or crayons
